Consisting of CUTICURA SOAP, to cleanse the skin, CUTICURA Ointment, to heal the skin, and CUTICURA RESOLVENT, to cool the blood, is often sufficient to cure the most torturing, disfiguring skin, scalp, and blood humours, rashes, itchings, and irritations, with loss of hair, when the best physicians, and all other remedies fail.

Millions of Women Use Cuticura Soap Exclusively for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, for cleansing the scalp of crusts, scales, and dandroff, and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitehing, and specified and the stopping of falling hair, for softening, whitehing, and specified and the stopping of falling hair, for softening to be stopping of falling hair, for softening the scale of the soothing red, rough, and sore hands, in the form of baths for annoying irritations, inflammations, and chailings, or too free or offensivo perspiration, in the form of washes for nicerative weaknesses, and for many sanative nutlseptic purposes which readily suggest themselves to women, and especially mothers, and for all the purposes of the toilet, bath, and nursery. No amount of persuasion can induce those who have once used it to use any other, especially for preserving and purifying the skin, scalp, and hair of infants and children. Cuticupa Soar combines delicate emollient properties derived from Cuticupa. the great skin cure, with the purest of cleansing ingredients and the most refreshing of flower odours. No other medicated soap ever compounded is to be compared with it for preserving, purifying, and beautifying the skin, scalp, hair, and linnds. No other foreign or domestic tollet soap, however expensive, is to be compared with it for all the purposes of the tollet, bath and nursery? From that moment I won without cessation, chiefly, I suppose, because of my absolute; indifference to loss. In an hour I was the gainer of an enormous sum, which, consisting largely of nuggets and gold-dust, was difficult to handle. A carpet bag was borrowed from the proprietor, by whose friendly advice I made my exit through a back door, and along the showy silent street to my hotel. As I neared my hotel, a figure stood out from the doorway of the River View and I recognised Barlow, of the North West Mounted Police, who, a few hours previously, had been my guest at dinner. Don't shoot, old man, said my friend, as a revolver gleamed in the moonlight-'It is only me-we have got a big job on. I must have dropped off suddenly, to sleep for when I awoke the fag-end of my candle was sputtering in the socket. The next moment it had gone out, leaving me with no matches, and an unpleasant suspicion that, while I slept, some one had entered the room. Conviction followed when I heard a moving body and loudly challenged the intruder. But there was no reply. 'If you don't answer, I shoot, ' rang clearly out in the darkness. There is short shrift for thieves in mining camps, and the next moment I had fired at random in the divection of the sound. Simultaneously the door was thrown open with a crash, and the room flooded with the light of many lantorns. Wareham and half a dozen policemen were soon surrounding a prostrate figure, which was lying barefooted in a grey sleeping suit, a dark crimson mark over the heart showing where my bullet had reached its mark. The tendency of some Masters to play for lgaws in recent tournaments has led to a change in the calculation of points. This new rule will come into practical effect for the first time in the Monte Carlo tournament. Dr Lasker is the inventor, and the method of calculating is so simple that the wonder is it was never proposed before. The first draw is to count one quarter to each player. If the second game is also drawn, then each scores another quarter. Should the second game be won, then the winner receives only half a point, equal to three-quarters for the two games. The new rule should work out fairly all round. and is likely to meet with general approval for the stronger player will have to try for a win, instead of trusting to the second nightmare that I was looking upon the fea- game, while the weaker player who draws a game will at least get a fraction for one

Nowhere, except in Great Britain, is any distinction between amateursand professional chess players recognised; nor is the man who devotes his life to the game excluded from tournaments for no reason except his artistry. Inasmuch as money prizes are invariably offered by the promoters of chess tournaments, the exclusion of the master cannot be justified by a consideration of the law affecting any other sport. The result of his absence is that the so-called amateur player never obtains really good practice, and even if he be born to mastery never becomes a master of the game; for, like the poet, the great chess master is both born and made.

Will appear in the 'CHINA MAIL' on SATURDAY Next, 23rd March.

The 'Tales' are for the most part true, they are of a sensational and most exciting nature, and are related with true dramatic power. Mr. DE WINDT'S record is almost unique. He served as A.D.C. to his brother-in-law, Raja Brooke, of Sarawak, in 1876-78; he travelled from Pekin to France by land in 1878 : rode to India from Russia (via Persia) in 1889; inspected the prisons of Western Siberia in 1890; and visited mines and political prisoners in Eastern Siberia in 1884. În 1895 he attempted to travel from New York to Paris by land for the Pall Mall Gazette; he nearly perished on Behring Straits, but was rescued by a whale. He explored the Klondyke Goldfields in 1897. Hougkong, March 16, 1901.

IHONOKONO, SATURDAY, MARCH 16, 1901.

DURING the past week, Mr R. G. Shewan has given the public the benefit of his opinions on several subjects. There are not many opportunities for public speak ing in Hongkong, but if a man cannot make opportunities he can rat least make the most of those given him, and this Mr Shewan has done. As a leading business man, he is well able to enunciate his views on matters affecting the commercial and industrial interests of the Colony, and his commonsense remarks will commend themselves to the majority of the European residents. When he travels into the world of politics, however, he is not so safe a guide. We say it with all respect, but we cannot help thinking that when he. touched on the question of better representation in the Government of the Co lony at the annual meeting of the Chamber of Commerce he showed that he had not con sidered the full effect of his words. His attempt to apply English political party eries to Hongkong political life was pohappy. We agree with him entirely when he advocates a change in the so-called representation of the public in the Legislative Council; but when he says: 'We must agitate, agitate, agitate, until we realise the ideal of Government of the people by the people and for the people we decline to follow him, and we imagine most Europeans will hold the same opinion after they have given this political ideal their careful consideration.

Who are the people in Hongkong? Th Chinese, we reply. If we are to introduce Union Insurance Co., Ltd., at the English political party-cries then we mus Society's Head Office, No. 1, Queen's examine the situation by the help of English political principles. It is an accepted axiom of English politics that the people are the governing force - that the destinies of the country are decided at the election Goods por Hakata Mara not cleared after of members of the House of Commons. Those who have lived hind the scenes, however, know what little influence the public vote has on the real government of the country; but the people are happy in the thought that their ideal is attained. In all matters of great public importance, of course, it is different -we mean, for instance, such matters as the repudiation of Mr Gladstone's Home Rule proposals, the adoption of the Reform Offices of the Company, 38 and 40, Laws, the repeal of the Corn Laws, the approval of the South African war. Terhaps a closer analogy to the state of affairs that exists in Hongkong could be found in the great Municipalities of England and Scotland-London, Liverpool, Birmingham, Manchester, Glasgow; and probably this is what Mr Showan had in his mind. But even so, the logical application of his phrase 'Government of the people by the people for the people' would inevitably land this Colony in a worse plight than it is to-day under the bureaucratic rule of Downing Street. If the public representatives on the Legislative Council are to be elected upon a popular franchise, then the public representation will resolve itself into a Chinese representation. The Europeans are out-numbered, and would be out-numbered whatever the franchise qualification. The chief factor in qualifying a citizen to vote, Mr Shewan cannot forget, is ratepaying. Here in Hongkong, the meanest coolie has to pay the rates, so that 'government by the people' in Hongkong would resolve itself into government by the coolie classes, under the direction or control, eventually, of 'bosses' on the American system. We are sure Mr Shewan does not aim at this, and when he has an opportunity again of 80 dealing with public representation in Hong-

There can be no question, we think, that 00 the Chinese have not yet attained the high plane occupied by Europeans in matters of self-government. Without going into abstruse examinations on Spencerian lines 12.00 of the different ideals of Europe and Asia, we venture to assert that, broadly speaking, the European town (and Hongkong is little more than a town) is better governed than the Chinese city. In some respects, Hongkong is behind the times, partly because local officials are timid or incompetent, partly because the Colony is ruled from a department in London ignorant to a great extent of local requirements, partly because a shifting population prevents All are superior Xeres Wines, specially persistent agitation for public improvement. As a Crown Colony, Hougkong, whatever the aspirations of some of us will never possess absolute self-government, and the best thing the European residents can do for themselves is to see that the public representatives on the Legislative Council are the best that can be obtained. Here it is that Mr Shewan should direct his energies, and if he does he will receive a large measure of public support. As the British residents, by early training and instinct, are the best qualified to serve on the Council, they should always be in a majority, presumably, and so long as the Chinese are represented by men like Dr Ho Kai and Mr Wei A. Yuk they need not an representatives, reform is needed. We On 9th March, at 105 Warrender Park do not say this out of any want of respect for the gentlemen new in the Council, but speak from a purely impersonal point of view. Political institutions in England have changed with the times, and there is no reason why this single form of semipublic representation in Hongkong should not likewise be susceptible of change. In this connection we may quote from Mr Michie's chapter on Hongkong in 'The Englishman in China.' He writes :-

A Crown Colony is the form of government which challenges the most pungent B. Robertson. criticism. The elected members of its legislature, being in a minority, can only in the last resort acquiesce in the de cisions of the official majority who constitute the executive Government. Such minerity, however, is by no means wanting in influence, for it is, after all, publicity which is the safeguard of popular liberty. The freedom of speech enjoyed by an Opposition which has no fear of the responsibility of office before its eyes widens the scope of its criticisms, and imparts a refreshing vigour to the invective of those of its mombers who possess the courage of their convictions. It reaches the opular car, and the apprehension of an adverse public opinion so stimulated can never fail to have its effect on the acts of the Administration. Under such a régime it seems natural that, other things being equal, each governor in turn should be ecteemed the worst who has horne rule in the colony, and in any case his merits are never likely to be fairly gauged by any local contemporary estimate. King Stork, though fair and far-seeing, may be more obnexious to criticism than King Log, who makes things pleasant during his official term.' Mr Michie, obviously, was writing of a period when the unofficial members of Council had opinions and were not afraid to give them voice. Neither criticism nor invective are common qualities in the Council of to-day. The public do not expeet rhetorical fireworks from their representatives. There are few questions that cannot be discussed with the same directness and expedition as a matter of business in the counting house; but, nevertheless, there are several questions of public utility and importance in the development of the Colony upon which the representatives of trade and commerce are better able to decide than local officials not yet in their official 'teens or departmental officials in London. If Mr Shewan will devote a portion of his acanty leisure to thinking out a feasible scheme of reform in local representation in the Legislative Council and submit it for public criticism or approval, he will be conferring a benefit on the Colony; but it must not be on the old English Radical cry of 'government of the

During the Race week, we published a paragraph, supplied by a local amateur astronomer, regarding the appearance of a new star. It would seem that he was not the only observer to record the fact, as a Race Meeting Comments. Poons newspaper of the 26th February contains the following paragraph :-- 'A new star of the first magnitude has appeared in the constellation Persons. It was discovered by Captain Molesworth at Trincomalie, on the evening of the 24th instant, and the discovery has been confirmed, at his request, in the Observatory here. Its spectrum has been photographed here; it shows an extensive stellar conflagration, mostly due to hydrogen, and generally of the same character as what was observed during the apparition of the Nova in Auriga in 1892. The star may go down almost to invisibilit, within a few days.' It is interesting to have this information from amateur observers, but surely the Director of our loca Observatory (Dr Doberck) ought to make public items of this nature. The Observatory exists for the benefit of the public, and surely it is of importance to navigators to know of the appearance of a new star in a well-known constellation.

Sanitation at Singapore.

The Singapore Free Press says :- The Chinese shipowners and merchants, who must be losing money considerably over sinck trade caused by quarantine restrictions, must be beginning to think, through their pockets, that energetic sanitation has a distinct commercial value to a community. They will now begin to understand that tenements are so built that the sun never gets into rooms or subdivisions of rooms the microba Nemesia, though it may be long in coming, is as bound to come as the sun is bound to rise. We beg pardon: we should have said, as the earth is bound to keep on revolving. It is the merchant and the shipowner who pays the most of the 'fines' in case of the port being declared infected. And perhaps now they begin to appreciate, through their purses, the sanitary zeal of a Gentle or a Middleton.

Military Items.

Colonel Richardson, of the Indian Staff Corps, has the local rank of major-general China Field Force. The selection of this any longer against the British. hand, so just is he, and so ready to make all allowances for human nature; a man to look up to, honour, and respect." The extract is from the letter of a Staff officer serving with Sir Alfred Gaselee's headquarters.

The choice of Colonel Shone, now Commanding Royal Engineer of the China Field Force, to succeed the late Major-General Turner as Director-General of Military Works in India, is an admirable one in every way. It may be said to have been almost a foregone conclusion that the offer would be made to him; but some doubted whether it would be accepted, Colonel Shone, although long connected with the Public Works Department; having of late years made a reputation for himself as a soldier in the field. However, the position is a very lucrative one, carrying the rank of major-general, and Colonel Shone, being only fifty years of age, will be able to hold it for the prescribed period of five years.

kong:-The last words I heard as I started for Hongkong just three weeks ago were, Well, good bye, Daybroak; if you have fine weather in Hongkong you'll have a splendid time. The weather was fine and we had the best of good times. On . the third day of the races it rained during the morning, but by tiffin time all was in order. though the course all day was holding Tuesday and Wednesday, the first and second days, were simply made for racing a cloudless sky, the sea had hardly a ripple upon it, the course, but for the water thrown upon it, would have been as fast as it pos-sibly could be, and the atmosphere was sufficiently warm to make a tweed suit comfortable. Hongkong was at its best. As I reached the town, armed for the day's procoolings, the traffic towards the Happy Valley had commenced; all vehicles were bound in the same direction-rickshas, chairs, a few carriages, and a few bicycles. Business was over. The Crown Colony, true to its sporting instincts, had made up its mind to enjoy its annual race carnival.
The inside of the course, I was told, did not contain so many onlookers as usual, but the matcheds, as one approached the Grand Stand, the Stand itself, and the cuclosures were crowded with people of all denominations. Sir Henry and Lady monraing for Queen Victoria not having expired, did not attend the meeting, and the toilettes of most of the ludies present showed in some way that in the midst of the gaiety England's loss had not been for-

The Elixir of Life. As a result of a protracted series of experiments with salt solutions, the efficacy of which in prolonging life was recently asserted by Professor Loeb, of the University of Chicago, two prominent physicians of that city claim to have demonstrated that in cases of great loss of blood by disease or injury, normal salt solution as a restorative will save life, even when ninety per cent. of the blood has been lost. The experiments which have extended over a period of six months, have, according to the physicians, made practicable a new system of The Cal. & O. S. S. Co.'s s.s.
